

EDUCATION:

Medical School: Cairo University School of Medicine
Cairo, Egypt, 1987

POST DOCTORAL TRAINING:

July 1991 - June 1994 Pediatric Critical Care Fellow
University of California, Los Angeles
Memorial Miller Children's Hospital of Long Beach

June 1989 - June 1991 Pediatric Resident
University of Southern California
LAC/USC Medical Center
Los Angeles, CA

July 1988 - June 1989 Pediatric Intern
Albert Einstein School of Medicine
Flushing Hospital Medical Center
New York, NY

January 1988 - June 1988 Research Assistant
Surgical Metabolism Research
St. Luke's Hospital/Columbia University
John Kral, M.D., Chief of Surgery
Kings County Hospital/Downstate University
New York, NY

HONORS:

- * Selected by the Orange County Medical Association (OCMA) as one of the top physicians in Pediatric Pulmonary Critical Care, 2005
- * Team member of the Month – Fountain Valley Regional Hospital 2003
- * “Best Teacher of the Year” – Fountain Valley Regional Hospital 2002
- * Graduated with honors in the top 5th percentile from Medical School.
- * Passed the Pediatric Critical Care Board examination at the 90th percentile.
- * Passed the Pediatric Critical Care In-Training Examination in the 93rd percentile.
- * Was offered Chief Resident position at University of Southern California/Los Angeles County Medical Center. (declined offer to continue training and Fellowship)
- * Graduated with honors in the top 5th percentile in the country from High School.

AWARDS:

1. In-Training Abstract Award. Low Dose continuous nebulized albuterol (CNA) is as effective as high dose CNA in severe status asthmaticus was selected as one of five best in-training abstracts by the American Academy of Pediatrics. October 24, 1994. Award presented in Dallas, TX on October 24, 1994.
2. In-Training Abstract Award. Permissive hypercapnia (PH) in children with ARDS was selected as one of five best in-training abstracts by the American Academy of Pediatrics. Award presented in Dallas, TX on October 24, 1994.

TEACHING:

House Staff Education:

- * Pediatric Critical Care Fellows from the University of California, Los Angeles:
- Supervision, educational seminars, research projects and patient care.*
- * Pediatric Residents and Medical Students from the University of California, Irvine:
- Supervision and evaluation, developed programs and protocols to enhance patient care and resuscitation skills.*
- * Respiratory Therapists
- Developed and trained staff on new ventilatory protocols which proved to be highly cost effective (see publications).*
- * Nursing Education:
- CME seminars
- Supervising nursing research projects
- Established mock code program to enhance resuscitation skills*
- * Instructor, Pediatric Advanced Life Support, Memorial Miller Children's Hospital, the University of California and Fountain Valley Regional Hospital.*

TEACHING: (cont.)

- * Developed Critical Care Pathways in asthma, respiratory failure and pulmonary diseases which proved to be highly cost effective methods of treatment.
- * Developed educational seminars for outreach community hospitals.
